Come Get Your Anti-Murphy Crisis Management Plan

“If You Fail to Plan, You Are Planning to Fail”- Benjamin Franklin
Depending on who you read and what year it is 90-95 percent of small businesses fail in the first 10 years. This is for one reason... LACK OF CASH! You do not have enough cash to pay your bills.

There are many aspects of business that vampire you out of your cash. In the beginning a mistake can cost you dearly. As you grow and learn to make good decisions the risk gets lower and lower you will make a business ending decision. One threat to your business that does not fall into this category is a CRISIS. Dealing with a crisis takes experience and in just about all cases some HELP.

Being part of the NCALC gives you that help and access to the top 5 percent of dry-cleaning business owners. Many of these business owners have dealt with or has direct connection to someone who has dealt with your specific crisis.

The best plan is one developed in the “cool of the day” and implemented in the “heat of the moment” Most of us are busy putting out fires, especially in the last few months. There have not been many “cool days”. Unfortunately, a crisis does not care in fact they like to hit you at the worst possible moments. What you need is a step-by-step plan sitting around waiting for Mr. Murphy to show up.

I am sure you are like me and are reading this rolling your eyes thinking as if! As if I had the time, as if my employees would show up, as if I had seen my desk in 2 years, as if, as if, as if... Well, it just so happens being a member of the NCALC and participating in our events will get you a helpful start. You learn what you don't know or thought you knew but were wrong. Basically, you get a shortcut!

At the NCALC Spring Meeting Martin Young will give a presentation about crisis management. You will learn all you need to know to get a plan started. For attending you

Let's Get Together at Wrightsville Beach

Hello again from the beautiful town of Shallotte, North Carolina. I hope this letter finds all of you and your families well. I have been trying my best to keep in touch with fellow cleaners throughout the state. Several including myself are still dealing with staff, family, or friends that have been affected by Covid. In my last newsletter we were dealing with the Delta variant, this time we are having to cope with Omicron. It does appear that with each variant the virus is weakening, and herd immunity is helping us to beat this thing. It's sure is nice to go out and see smiles on everyone's faces.

Many cleaners across the state and country are continuing to report rising numbers on garment pieces. Some are even higher than what they were pre-covid. Between customers going back to work and traveling again, coupled with a more diverse menu of things that people are bringing in to be cleaned, it's resulting in real sales. I was on the phone with a couple of fellow association members the other day. One told me he was cleaning a lot of sneakers and Ugg boots. Items that he never dreamed he would have in his POS system. Other cleaners are cleaning luggage and travel bags. It's true that these items do take a bit more time to process than a shirt, but they are deserving of a much higher price. It also sets you apart from your competition. Right now, as I am writing this letter, I have sports jerseys and team flags and banners that came out of a local sports bar. Look around your town at what needs to be cleaned. Your friends and fellow business owners in your community have no idea how vast your cleaning skills and knowledge are. Go after the business. Don't wait for it to come to you. And remember, don't be afraid to ask for their business. If you don't ask, the answer is always no.

Your NCALC just held our 2022 winter board meeting at Pinehurst in January. I am proud to say that it was an extremely productive meeting. We got a lot accomplished, and our committees really came back to the table with some great ideas to help our fellow cleaners in North Carolina cope with problems that might be facing them now and in the future. I am a seasoned veteran of this association and have been involved with it since 1983. There has never been a meeting, convention, or social gathering that I have attended where I did not walk away with an idea or recommendation that I could implement to help me in my business. I strongly encourage all dry cleaners to attend these meetings. Come get to know your fellow colleagues and help us grow to be an even better NCALC. Our next board meeting will be at the Blockade Runner in Wrightsville Beach the weekend of April 29th thru May 1st. We have some educational sessions planned as well as a lot of fun, so bring your families to play at the beach.

I don't want to forget to mention DLI and their staff who are working so hard for the survival of our businesses and the dry-cleaning industry. If you are a member of DLI/NCALC, please log onto the Peer-to-Peer meetings online on Tuesdays at 11:30 am and the Webinars on Wednesdays. Pop in your earbuds while you are in your plant or on your routes and listen to what is going on in our industry across the country. If you are not a member, I encourage you to join and steer your business into the future. Contact NCALC or DLI and let us help and serve you in any way we can. You can also contact me via my cell phone at 910-612-5202. I look forward to seeing you at Wrightsville Beach in April.

Yours in Service,
Allan Cheatham

demics, loss of key staff, supply chain issues, or other calamities, this session will help participants identify critical strategies for survival and thriving again.

Following free time on Saturday afternoon, participants will have a dinner social outing at the nearby Bluewater Waterfront Grill on the Intracoastal Waterway in Wrightsville Beach.

Plan now to attend the Spring Meeting. For more info, see page 7 of this newsletter and our website at www.NCALC.org.

Young Professional Shares Experience

I was honored to be a part of the NCALC convention at the Kimpton Cardinal Hotel. I am local to Winston Salem where the convention took place, so I felt as though this was a perfect opportunity for me. This was my first time attending an NCALC Convention and it was worth every minute of it! I attended Saturday's meetings and educational sessions.

I really enjoyed the educational sessions. It brought me back to being in school at the DLI. Listening to Jennifer Whitmarsh speak about managing and organizing delivery routes was very interesting. She gave everyone great ideas about how to enhance their delivery routes.

The other speakers were wonderful as well. Discovering new ways to optimize wash, dry, and fold and learning more about wet cleaning were just a few things they touched on. The best and most influential aspect that I enjoyed was the networking. I didn't realize what a great community of drycleaners we have here in North Carolina! I was able to visit with friends and colleagues that I hadn't seen in a while. I also met new friends in the industry. I am looking forward to my next convention!

Hopefully it will be this coming one in April. Thank you to everyone who welcomed me with open arms! It was a wonderful experience.
